Wm Lloyd Garrison,

my dear friend,

Very warm thanks do I return you for sending me a copy of "Proceedings at the Breakfast to W L Garrison".
It came in last evening's mail.
I have not yet been to breakfast-but I have already given nearly as home to this much-prized little Book.

I had of course read your speech in 'the English Newspaper'.
But these exceedingly interesting comments of the English Newspaper are most worthy read to me. I am especially pleased with: "Hail we come our families?"

Mr Chapman's Introduction is very happy.

Mr Miller's speech is very wise—& Emil Aupiais' very generous.

You, of course, will thank Miller with fine dedication to the memory of his good wife & his little precious Volume on Liberty.

No wonder that such a man should be in favor of Widening Voting!

What a treasure will this Book, a copy of which you have so kindly given to me be to your children & children's children!
They will see in it, that early has a man been so highly & so justly honored as you were, at that memorable breakfast.

My dear wife joins me in love to you & your dear wife.

Love yours

Samuel Smith
